NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, December 1.—The stock market was active, feverish and weak today throughout the entire session, and the result of two hours' business is to leave the entire list materially lower than last evening. The tone of the room was consistently bearish, but London was doing nothing, while commission people were not factors at any time in course of prices. The bear, under such circumstances, became as aggressive as a tiger day after day, and the market became more active and the weakness more pronounced. The pressure was especially severe against southwestern stocks, the range and a few others, such as the Louisville and Nashville and cotton oil, the latter being a marked feature of the market. Vanderbilt's and Lake Shore in particular were strong features of the day, although they were fractionally lower at the close. Everything on the active list is lower, and Manhattan and Atchafalaya, Toledo and Santa Fe to 20 per cent each; Northwestern 15; Omaha preferred and Missouri Pacific, 15; each; Louisville and Nashville and New England, 15; each; Canada Southern and Richmond and West Point preferred, 1 each; and others fractional amounts. The sales aggregated 115,000 shares.

Exchange dull and steady at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4, money easy at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4. Submarine balances: Gold $1,000,000; currency, $15,000,000. Government bonds but steady at 125 1/2 to 126 1/4. State bonds dull but firm.

This Imported Striped NEWMARKET!
With Angel Sleeves!
$12.50 Worth $20

Our Mr. O'Donnelly spent last week in New York buying for cash large lots of goods from importers and manufacturers who, at this late time of the season, offer goods at a great sacrifice to clear out their stock to close the year's business and to make room for their Spring Stock. He bought largely of all seasonable goods, and we will offer them to the public Monday at prices which was never known in Atlanta before.

Having Money, Pluck and Experience, and very Small Expenses, no Palatial Residences nor Expensive Establishments to keep up, we can sell cheaper than our competitors. The more closely you compare our goods and prices, the more fully convinced you become that these are FACTS.

Let us discuss these dangers for a moment. As to the first. I do not doubt that every day the south remains solid, the drift toward a solid north is deepening. The south is solid hich the white man, like a path on an walk in honor and peace. What ath, though I walk down it alone—for end of that path, and nowhere else, lies the full emancipation of my section and the restoration of this union. But it cannot . When the negro was enfranchised, the ath was condemned to solidify as surely as life-preservation is the first law of nature. A ate here or there may drift away, but it will through such a storm as the aval, and bearing such burden as the nor pestilence can bring. This problem not of our seeking. It was thrust upon us the orderly unfolding of a preordained plan.

Can a northern man dealing with casual servitude, secure and lodged for a day in a sphere they resent, understand the negro relations of the races of the south? Can he comprehend the open hearted, sympathetic friendship, the comradeship, the comradeship, the companion of the hunt, the frolic, the furrow, and the home, standing in the sun, the hand of the negro, the hand of the white, and lifting not his eyes beyond the narrow horizon that shuts him in with his neighbors? Can he understand the intense, the permanent estrangement can never be healed between these two races? It is this, this the south expects you fairly to deal and by sympathy to deepen this friendship and add thereto the moral effect of the companionship connected, with the wealth and intelligence of the north. The south is it is this upon which the south has relied for years, and upon which she will rest in future years. That there has been brutality is admitted. There has also been brutality in the north. But the south is not the author of the crime in the south kept away from the polls by the force of violence in the late election. It is above this in the south, more than in the north. Even in those localities where violence once occurred, wiser councils have since prevailed, and the people have chosen higher and legitimate and inexorable methods by which the superior race always dominates.

from the economic freedom and the opportunity for more championed by the immigrants, than through political aspiration or achievement. It was the influence of our industrial growth, and the fact that I had the time to dwell on this point today—how vast has been the development, how rapid the growth, and how deep and enduring is laid the basis for the future. Companies of immigrants sent down from the sturdy settlers of the north will solve the problem of the future. They will enter into full and harmonious relations with the north quicker than all the battalions that could be raised and handled could do it. The way of immigration is the way of progress this way. Let us encourage it. But let us realize that these immigrants come in well-ordered companies, and that they are to be accepted as friends and neighbors—to mingle their blood with ours, to build their homes on our confederation, to receive their Christian faith on these shores, and not to be a burden to us, but a heritage of government and faith, but, honoring our constitution and reverencing our God, and

The crowd rose to their feet and gave the cheers with a will.

Mr. Grady's speaking was over. Carolinians and Georgians flocked to the stand and extended warm congratulations to Mr. Grady on his effort.

The Chicago Press on Mr. Grady's Speech

The orator of the day has spoken and spoken well. He never fails to entertain or to inspire. His mind flashes with his subject, and his hearers are carried away by the force of his reasoning. Mr. Yancy and I felt held, and which the people recognize as the best of his.

Mr. Grady's pen and tongue have been great agents in the advancement of Georgia. Full of Dickens, this boy entered journalism with a fervid imagination and a power of phrase-making that has subjected his fancy and boldly struck out upon the world. He has made a wonderful record, and a great moral has been getting up expositions inviting people to Georgia, scheming to get a great number of diamonds, making a new sea, orange groves and truck farms, making a

GEORGIANS IN MEXICO.

MEXICANS AND MEXICAN WAYS DESCRIBED BY MR. DILLON.

The All Powerful Judge—Desperate Encounters—The Queer Ways of the People—How the Strife Takes Their Bath.

Mr. J. R. Dillon, a conductor on the Mexican National railway, and a former resident of Atlanta, is at home on leave of absence.

He brings good news of the Georgians who went to Captain Raul's road, and in a short talk he told most interesting things about Mexicans and the ways of the country.

Mr. Dillon left Atlanta about a year ago with Mr. J. N. Frazier, the former auditor of the Mobile and Girard railroad, who began on the Mexican National as assistant superintendent of construction, and is now treasurer of the road.

The Mexican National railway is a narrow gauge and its length from Laredo, Texas, to the City of Mexico is 837-10th miles. The passenger trains run this distance in 36 hours—which is the fastest narrow gauge time on the continent.

The narrow gauge engines are fully as heavy as any of our broad gauge moguls, and they have 20 by 24 inch cylinders. The road was made a narrow gauge because "it was thought that a broad gauge engine could not be duplicated in the winding about the Sierra Nevada mountains."

The powerful locomotives are necessary to pull over the steep mountain grades. Some of these powerful locomotives to pull ten cars.

The passenger system of the road is entirely different from the American. There are three classes, and tickets are sold at such a low price, which is five-eighths of a mile. The first-class cars are elegant and the fare is three cents a mile. The third-class cars have seats along the sides like street cars and seats ranged along the center. The fare is a cent and a half a mile.

"We have a great many conductors who have just gone out," said Mr. Dillon. "The San Luis Potosi branch is manned almost entirely by Atlanta men. Mr. J. Bell, the trainmaster, was connected with the East Tennessee road. Mr. C. R. Nigley at one time was master of trains of the East Tennessee road. Mr. J. Wallace, who is now in the office of the chief clerk for the East Tennessee road, was also a passenger train conductor."

Mr. Wells and Mr. Walls, old East Tennessee conductors, have just gone there. Mr. Joe Wallace, who is now in the office of the chief clerk for the East Tennessee road, was also a passenger train conductor. Mr. Wells and Mr. Walls, old East Tennessee conductors, have just gone there. Mr. Joe Wallace, who is now in the office of the chief clerk for the East Tennessee road, was also a passenger train conductor."

We have an Atlanta man, Mr. Grant, who is now in the office of the chief clerk for the East Tennessee road. Mr. Wells and Mr. Walls, old East Tennessee conductors, have just gone there. Mr. Joe Wallace, who is now in the office of the chief clerk for the East Tennessee road, was also a passenger train conductor."

"We run through a prairie from Laredo to the 10th mile, where we begin to strike the mountains. From there we pass Monterey and Saltillo we are in the mountains. Then we run along the foot of the mountains for miles."

"When we run out in the prairie again we pass through no more mountains till we come to San Philip in the state of Zacatecas. There the road runs through a gap and continues in the mountains, either on top or at the foot until we get to the City of Mexico."

"The scenery is the grandest I ever saw. Upon one side the mountains are covered with snow and down on the other side a hundred feet there is perpetual summer, with farms and green fields and stock grazing."

"The city of Olaya, which has about forty thousand inhabitants gets its ice from a mountain near by, and from it they cut and supply of ice at night and slide it down. From the mountain it is carried on the backs of men to the city."

"The finest scenery is at Toluca forty-five miles from the city of Mexico. You come around a curve suddenly and a snow capped mountain rises to an immense height before you. The snow looks like a great white sheet thrown over it and the snow lies variously with the wind, but it is well defined and there are always streams trickling from it. The mountain is thirty miles away, but on account of the clearness of the atmosphere it does not seem more than four or five miles away."

"The temperature will average 70 all the year round, and will not vary much. The nights are always cool and in the summer you have to sleep with heavy covering."

"Stories out there are good. Mr. Roach, the president, gets $20,000 a year in American money and lives in New York. The employees are paid in Mexican money, worth about 73 cents to the dollar. The engineers get $120 to $180 a month, conductors average from $115 to $150, brakemen get $65. They use no flagmen. A brakeman in Mexico is paid the rate of a man with the expectation of making a conductor of him. All the other brakemen are Mexican. When an American goes on as a brakeman he is expected to learn the road as quick as he can so that he can take train."

"The Mexican National was built by English capital, and most of the civil engineers were Englishmen."

"The Mexican Central, owned by the Santa Fe system, has a set of men who seem to be always in trouble, and always getting into jail. You know they make a conductor responsible for accidents to passengers out there, and if a man gets hurt, they put the conductor in jail and keep him there until he clears himself. One of our conductors named Woods caught some people stealing a ride and put them off, but the conductor got into jail of the brakemen, the traps got on the trucks of a car and continued their ride. The car ran off the track and they were killed. Woods was put in jail, but the conductor got hold of Woods, nailed him up in a dry goods box and shipped him by express to El Paso. After a while he thought the trouble had been over and came back. They threw him in jail, kept him there three months and eighteen days without a commitment trial, and then turned him out without saying whether he was guilty or innocent."

"Justice in Mexico is a farce. It is all in the hands of the Heffie Politia or chief judge. If he says you go to jail you go, and if he says you are out you are out. He will tell you my experience."

"In Mexico it is very scarce and when a train stops if you do not tighten every link and pull down the rear brakes they will steal the pins and links and sell them. They cut the train up this way sometimes, and it is very annoying. I went to the Heffie Politia and complained about it. I stood in pretty well with him, and he said to me:

"You watch them, and when you catch them stealing you kill them—shoot them on the spot—and come to me and you shan't be hurt."

"I did not take his advice, however. "In Mexico, strange to say, they will do less with you for killing a man than they will for wounding him. There are severe penalties for wounding a man, but when you kill one, they rarely do anything with you. Everybody is heavily armed in Mexico. They wear big revolvers in holsters at the side, and when two men fall out, the one who can draw the quickest is the man. I saw two Americans kill each other in the rooms of a Spanish hotel about a hat. They went into dinner and left their revolvers hanging about by the door. I could hardly tell the difference, but one was a little newer than the other."

"The first man who came out from dinner took the newer hat which belonged to the other man. The second man coming out of the dining room saw that the other had taken his hat and called out, 'What in the hell did you take my hat for?'"

"The other wheeled with his hand on his revolver. Both drew at the same time and fired and both fell dead."

"When men are killed they way they take them out and bury them and that is all of it. They bury them differently. Only the rich can have coffins, and they are borne on the shoulders of four men on a stretcher. The bodies of a poor man can run a coffin and carry their dead to the grave in it but there they have to take the body out and bury it in a sack."

It is very hard for an American to eat down there at first. They have no stoves but cook in jars with charcoal and the fumes of the charcoal are very hard to get accustomed to. A stove costs $150 and an American ham costs a dollar a pound. Butter costs 15 cents a pound. These high prices are due to the duties. Each state in Mexico has its duties and its customs officers. These intricate duties are light, but the duties on American goods coming into the country are very heavy."

"The railroad is now building elegant eating houses all along the line and meals will be served in the best American style at a dollar. The Mexicans think this is high. They have breakfast of eggs and coffee and bread at the Mexican hotels at 18 cents, dinner for 50 cents and supper for 40 cents. Everything is served in the Spanish style, removing everything on the table with every course."

"These hotels only keep enough provisions on hand for the guests in the house. If a new guest comes in and want food they have to go out and buy the provisions."

Mr. Hodges formerly of Savannah, who had control of the eating houses on the Savannah, Florida and Western railroad has charge of the new eating houses on the Mexican National railway."

"If a man will conduct himself here in order to get along, he will be well treated. These like Americans."

"Such a thing as a riot in Mexico is almost unknown; but if one should occur the Heffie Politia will send a company of soldiers and arrest everybody around and keep them in jail until he can investigate."

"Everything is in the power of the police. If one arrests you always go with him. He has unlimited power and he will kill you in a minute if you resist, and he will not be harmed. The policemen there get twenty-five cents a day if they wear a bayonet stuck in a scabbard at the side. At night they all have lanterns and a policeman will set his lantern out in the middle of the street and get down at a corner where it is dark and out of the wind."

"Horses are plenty but there are few vehicles. You can buy a horse for $10 and a burro or donkey for $1 to $3. They use donkeys and mules to carry goods over the mountains on packs. San Luis Potosi is a city nearly three times the size of Atlanta when the Mexican Central was the only railroad they carried their goods 100 miles on mules."

"The upper class Mexicans are very nice people and they are very polite except when they are drunk and then they are very rude. Whisky and cigars are very cheap. You can get a goblet full of whisky for a cent and a half. It is a distilled liquor made from the pulque plant. The Mexicans don't like the Spaniards, whom they call the gringos."

"The people are very poor and have been slaves. They call themselves peons instead of laborers, and they work for word slaves. They have but one suit, consisting of a shirt and a pair of pants made of cotton cloth and straw hats."

"The men and women wear their clothes until Friday or Saturday and then the man and his wife go down to the river to wash. The woman will go into the river, get under the water, take off her clothes and wash them and her husband's and stay there until they are dry. The man will take off his clothes and while his wife is washing he will wrap himself up in a blanket and stand like a statue, only moving when he takes the clothes from his wife and hangs them on a bush or a tree to dry. He stands there motionless for an hour or so until his clothes are dry."

"As the train ran along the river I have seen hundreds of them standing like statues, wrapped in blankets."

"A marriage ceremony in Mexico costs $50 and the peons are too poor to pay this sum, so all they do is to get into the arms of a hacienda and that is their marriage ceremony; nevertheless they are generally very faithful to each other to the end."

"The land belongs to the upper class and the average farm or hacienda has fifty thousand acres. They are all rich of poor there; there are no middle classes. One hacienda yielded last year $18,000 a year to its owner, besides his own buildings, etc. The upper class wear short coats, white leather or cloth shoes, and they wear pants as tight as they can get on. The sombreros are made of straw and are worth $10 to $20. They have the initials of the owner in silver on the side."

"In the streets you see children of three or four years perfectly nude, and you will see many other sights that would surprise an American."

"The peons are too poor to eat meat. Their meal consists of tortillas or pancakes, beans and chili, or red pepper. They roll up the beans in the tortillas, bite off the end of the roll, and of the take a bite of the chili. Their agricultural implements are the most primitive. The plow consists of three pieces of wood, with a very small tip of iron. They hitch it to two oxen, and the plowman carries a long pole, the point of which he thrusts into the side of the oxen, and if the ox is not ready for the yoke, he takes a bite of the chili. It has to be done in the presence of the parents and all the windows are grated. When a young man goes with a girl to the theater he must take the whole family. Americans cannot marry unless they are Catholics. It is not legal."

Catarin originates in scrofulous taint in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates every impurity from the blood, thus purifying and permanently curing Catarin. Give it trial.

For Throat Diseases and Coughs use Brown's BRONCHIAL TONIC. Like all really good things, they are imitated. The genuine are sold only in boxes.

Rodin Trip Kinding. We are prepared to make splendid terms to dealers generally for the best of all kindling. Call or send to office of Throver & Glover 85 Whitehall.

So to say "There's no place like Ford's" is saying a great deal, yet it is true. Ford's is, indeed, a popular place with all. He keeps everything that is nice and good. If you should happen to pass by his store don't fail to step in and see what he has. His supply of fruits, candies, etc., is the very best and most complete line ever seen in Atlanta. His Christmas stock, which he is now receiving, will be one of the finest ever brought south. Mr. Ford knows just what his customers want, and he always gets it for them. Of course everybody knows his number, 55 Peachtree street.

MILNER, GA. I had taken a cold that settled on my lungs, which gave me much trouble, especially at night. I took for Dr. Brewer's Lung Restorer. One bottle effected a perfect cure. I have no hesitation in recommending it as a first rate medicine for what it is recommended.

B. A. HOWE. Union Sunday School Meeting. The Fulton County Sunday School association will hold a union meeting at the Third Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Sunday schools of Fayette chapel and the Third Baptist church will participate in.

Address will be delivered by Judge James A. Anderson, Dr. Allen J. Bell, J. C. Courtney, W. H. Bell and others.

These little girls of the Third Presbyterian Sunday school will sing some of their sweet songs. There will also be singing by the Third Baptist Sunday school.

All interested in the cause are cordially invited.

An Important Consideration. The care of the eyes receives little attention from people generally. The sight is absurd, and small importance is attached to signs of its failure until they are almost appalled by the discovery that your eyes are in an alarming condition. It is not too late, as precautions should be taken to arrest the trouble when in its first stages, by the use of properly adjusted glasses, and the eye restorer in its vigor to extreme old age. Hawkes' Crystallized eyes have been found to cure eye troubles of all kinds, and are invaluable in relieving all difficulties of vision. Oculist prescriptions carefully filled, and glasses adjusted to all parts of the United States. A. K. Hawes, Importer, wholesale jobber and manufacturer, 19 Decatur street, under Kimball house, Atlanta, Ga.

LAFAYETTE.

Lafayette is the county seat of Walker county, Georgia, and is only twenty-six miles south of Chattanooga, immediately on the new Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus railroad.

Lafayette in the Past.

Lafayette is an old town, and was once the most important mercantile, educational and fashionable health and pleasure town in north Georgia, but the construction of railroads around the town and not one to it, diverted a large portion of its trade, impaired its institutions of learning, retarded its growth and left it in the background.

Lafayette in the Future.

Now that Lafayette has the splendid Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus railroad, a grand trunk line, giving the town superior freight and traveling facilities and connections with the railroad systems and commercial markets of the country, the town will bound rapidly forward, quickly regain its rightful proportions and importance, and in future derive full benefit of its splendid position and vast mineral, timber and agricultural resources.

Splendid Agricultural Country.

Lafayette is surrounded by a very fine farming country that is very fertile, highly productive and naturally adapted to cotton, grain of all kinds, grass clover, melons, grapes, berries, peaches, pears, apples, vegetables, live stock, poultry, etc.

Mineral Wealth—Coal, Iron, Limestone, Fire Clay, Pottery Clay, Brick Clay, Slate, Manganese, Antimony, Etc.

Pigeon and Lookout Mountain coal fields lie west and southwest of the town and only eleven miles distant, thus insuring abundant supply of excellent domestic and manufacturing coal at low cost. Steam coal can be laid down in Lafayette for $1.30 a ton, and will be cheaper in future.

Iron.

Only one and one-half miles west of Lafayette is the famous Shiloh Ridge iron field, which is the finest lead of fossiliferous iron in the Chattanooga iron district. It is an unbroken lead over seventy-five miles long, extending to Anniston and Gadsden, Alabama, being the same vein of iron used at those places. The quality at Lafayette, however, is the best in the district, being lower in phosphorus and silica, as proven by comparative analyses.

From three-fourths to a mile east of Lafayette is a most important deposit of brown hematite ore, which is wonderfully high in metallic ore. These ores are easy of access by train or spur tracks and can be laid down in Lafayette at a maximum cost of 72 cents a ton.

Manganese.

There is not a lot of 100 acres within ten miles of Lafayette that does not contain manganese, being under development, the quantity and quality is unknown.

Antimony.

In the anticlinal of Shiloh Ridge and the ridge east of Lafayette, wherever uncovered, antimony is found, and one of the leading mineral experts of the United States, after casual investigation, said he did not doubt that development would prove the existence of large deposits.

Slate.

A large ledge of the finest blue slate yet found in the country, seven miles long, runs within six miles southwest of Lafayette, and being only three miles from the railroad, can be easily and cheaply transported by train or spur tracks. A spur track now being built to the iron ore runs within one mile of the slate.

Brick, Fire and Pottery Clays are abundant right in and near by around Lafayette, and can be easily procured in any quantities for manufacture. On the land owned by the company and within 1,000 feet of the railroad, is any quantity of finest brick clay.

Timber.

Near and in all directions from Lafayette are large bodies of very fine hard wood timber in great variety. Excellent pine for lumber and building purposes is also abundant within short distance.

Water.

Lafayette and the surrounding country are abundantly supplied with springs, streams and wells of freestone water as good as the best, which can be procured anywhere by sinking wells 15 to 30 feet. Only 1/2 of a mile north of the city is one of the finest springs in North Georgia, having a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons a day, and from which water can be supplied to most of the lots to be sold, by gravitation, and all the lots can be supplied by erecting a stand-pipe on a point on the ground that is 150 feet above the high-point laid off into lots.

Factory Sites and Water Supply. The stream from the great spring mentioned above runs through this property north and south a distance of one mile parallel with and about 600 feet east of the railroad, thus making the large lots on east side of the railroad exceedingly valuable for manufacturing lots, having railroad at one end and the creek of pure, clear, soft water at the other end.

Pigeon Mountain Fruit Belt. Four miles west of Lafayette is the famous Pigeon Ridge, noted for its fine fruits, and especially peaches, grapes, pears, and small fruits, where crops never fail and the fruits grown are of superior quality and flavor.

Climate.

The latitude and 1,100 feet altitude of Lafayette give a most equable and delightful climate, free from extremes of heat and cold, the mean temperature being about 60 degrees Fahrenheit, and being about the same temperature that is most conducive to health and comfort for year round residence.

The Beautiful Lots to be Sold. The ground to be sold is a fine elevated, undulating plateau, with natural drainage, loamy soil, and sloping gently upward and westward from the railroad, which runs through it, so that the lots all command a fine view of passing trains and also of the surrounding country, the extreme western portion having an altitude of 300 feet above the surrounding country and commanding a superb view.

As a Residence and Summer Resort Town, Lafayette is a most attractive and inviting point. It is only 45 minutes run from Chattanooga, and having a perfect climate, the best of water, excellent society, good school and church privileges, there is no better summer resort for Chattanooga people, and for year round homes a healthier and more pleasant location cannot be found.

As a Manufacturing point, Lafayette offers great inducements and invites visits and investigation from all who want good locations. Come, see and decide for yourself.

As a Business Point, Lafayette is a very inviting place and bids fair to make rapid progress. It will prove to be a splendid trading point, and the railroad will cause its trade to increase rapidly and continue to do so in future.

Another Railroad to Lafayette. Arrangements have been perfected for building a railroad from Lafayette to the iron deposits in the Shiloh Ridge west of town, which road will also penetrate the heart of the best body of timber near town. This road will soon be in operation and will insure the erection of our more furnaces and other important industries near the depot.

New Manufactories Secured. 1st. One of Lafayette's shrewdest business men has bought a manufacturing lot near the depot on which he is erecting a steam ginning establishment.

2nd. Pottery works are being erected near the depot.

3rd. Plans are being perfected for two or more steam saw mills of large capacity, to be erected near the depot, and planing mills, which are a necessity, will soon follow.

4th. A handle, spoke, plow and wagon stock factory has been secured and will soon be erected at the depot.

5th. Negotiations are pending for a cotton factory with capital of $200,000, with fair prospects of securing it.

These industries are but the beginning and will surely be followed by others.

They show conclusively what the outlook is, and that the inevitable result will be that Lafayette is bound to build up rapidly around the depot, and in a short time a manufacturing and mercantile town will spring up around the depot that will be an honor to the county and the pride of the people.

Your Chance to Make Money.

We see to it that people, farmers, people of other counties, of Georgia and of other people from all over the country, there will be big money made on these fine lots by all who buy at this first sale. Come, see, investigate, and you will see so too. Why not make some of that money yourself? The railroad fare is cheap. Come to the sale as secure as the lot of the lots as you can and you will strike it right.

Suggestions and Advice to All. As railroads are the great arteries of travel and trade, it is a natural and inevitable consequence that business of all kinds—mercantile, manufacturing and other—will center about the railroad and depot, hence Lafayette must and will build up more rapidly in the new part of town around the depot, and the town will necessarily center there and the business be done there. Such will be the partition of the land, and the value of the land will be greatly increased. Therefore all who expect to live or do business in Lafayette should, for their own good, look to the purchase of a lot at this sale, as they will soon need them, and be compelled to have them, and it is best, of course, to secure them at first sale, at lowest first cost, for they can never be bought afterwards except by paying large profits to the parties who have bought them. Such will be the partition of the land, and the value of the land will be greatly increased. ## THE VIRGINIA BRIGHTS CIGARETTES ARE THE WINNERS.

A Few of the Parties Who Handle Virginia Brights in Atlanta—Mr. E. F. Small Engineering the Enterprise.

For some time certain brands of cigarettes have had full sway in this market, and have held the field so effectually that it was well nigh impossible for other cigarettes to come in competition with them.

But this "hold" has been broken and Virginia Brights, manufactured by Allen & Ginter, Richmond, Virginia, did it. The story of the deal is a short one. You see Allen & Ginter manufacture the best tobacco, cigars and cigarettes in the world. They are known in every part of the civilized world as the manufacturers of the "Richmond Straight Cut" cigarette, which has given them a reputation above all others. Connoisseurs on both sides of the Atlantic universally pronounce them the best cigarette made. Messrs. Allen & Ginter sell millions annually in Paris. In fact, their foreign trade has been so heavy they have neglected the home trade. Now that they have their goods well established on the other side of the water, also throughout the north and west, they have determined to introduce them in the south. Mr. E. F. Small, No. 6 Kimball house, is southern headquarters, and if you desire to get the famous Virginia Brights write to him and he will wait on you. Mr. Small has been in the south only a few weeks and has sold nearly a million cigarettes of this brand.

The Virginia Brights is really a ten cent cigarette, yet it is sold for only five cents. That is the secret of the scoop. Other five cent cigarettes could not match the Virginia Brights and had to go down. Virginia Brights is not made out of the leavings and trash like many other cigarettes, but out of leaf tobacco from three to four years old. The older the tobacco, the better the cigarette, and Virginia Brights leads them all. Retail and wholesale dealers throughout the south are requested to send their orders to Mr. Small, Atlanta, Ga. Where to Buy Your Christmas Groceries and Turkey.

More money is expended this month for groceries than any other month in the year, December, Christmas is upon us. Presents to buy for the children. Cakes to bake; fruit cakes of all sizes to ripen must be baked and laid away for the holidays. We have an extra quality of seedless raisins. As good as any quality of seedless raisins. Our Onda layer raisins are a little better than last year's stock. Quarter boxes raisins are of inferior quality, so we bought whole boxes which we will divide up, giving quarter box prices, thereby insuring finer quality. We will not sell you what we would not use ourselves, and what we cannot conscientiously recommend. Our table bunch fancy raisins are of better quality than we ever had or ever saw. Parties contemplating entertainments desiring fancy raisins do not get the best, unless they see our first quality. Our mince meat is superb. Our Rijano for Christmas coffee cannot be duplicated. Our Regal flour is what you want this month for your cakes; it is the best in the world. Our new price list table models has just been issued. We give prices of everything and would like your trade for the ensuing year 1889. Diseases of Men.
A large experience in treating diseases peculiar to men has enabled Dr. Tucker to perfect a system of treatment which never fails to effect a cure when directions are adhered to. Those who are suffering with organic weakness, night emissions, loss of power, nervous debility, irritable disposition, aversion to society, weakness in the back, loss of muscular power, dimness of vision, melancholy, epilepsy, impaired memory and a general flagging of all the vital powers induced by youthful indiscretion, or the excesses of maturer years, are speedily cured.

Treating Patients by Correspondence.
By his original system of diagnosis it is rarely necessary for Dr. Tucker to see his patients. Many patients can be better treated that way than by meeting the physician direct. Patients should always give age, sex, married or single, complexion, height, present and former weight (as near as possible) and occupation. Follow this with history of case in your own language, giving all particulars and symptoms, inclosing stamp for reply. Address, W. J. TUCKER, M. D., 9 Marietta street, Atlanta, Ga.

ANOTHER QUESTION

DISCUSSED BY OUR CONGRESSMEN.

SHALL UNCLE SAM ANNEX CANADA

What Several Senators and Representatives Say on the Subject—Other Gossip from Washington.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—[Special.]—The proposed annexation of Canada to the United States is being seriously considered. It has, as if in a single day, become a great national issue, and bids fair to become a question for the consideration of congress at the present session. It is not improbable that a resolution will be offered early in the session by Senator Sherman asking the president to open negotiations with the British government and get from that country an expression of opinion upon the proposed annexation. In the event the British government should receive the proposition with favor, there will follow the appointment of a commission to negotiate a treaty for that purpose. Nearly every senator and member here, irrespective of party, express themselves with enthusiasm for the annexation, and hope that the necessary steps will be taken as soon as possible. Your correspondent talked with a few of the leaders today and obtained the following expressions:

Senator Ingalls favors the annexation of Canada, and believes the people of Canada desire it, but it is not to be supposed that the British government will let so fair a colony go without a fight. "England's policy," he says, "is to retain Canada just as she retains her other colonies, exclusively for her own profit and convenience." She has worked the American colonies for suckers a long time. Now she is working Canada for a sucker, but she can't do it much longer. The whole world knows Canada shall be a part of our country."

Senator Sherman said that in his opinion within ten years Canada will be either represented in our congress or in the English parliament. "But," said he, "we do not want Canada if we have to use force to annex it; that is, we should like to see the same relations between Canada and the United States as now exist between England and Ireland." He believes the people on both sides of the line are of the same origin, the same blood, the same genius, the same aspirations, and they will inevitably march on together to the same destiny.

Representative Hitt, the leading member of the foreign affairs committee, is an advocate of annexation, and believes that in time the annexation will take place.

Mr. McCreary, the chairman of the foreign affairs committee, says the annexation of the United States is only a question of time.

Colonel R. D. Locke, of Macon, formerly United States marshal of Georgia, is here looking after federal patronage for Georgia republicans, after the fourth of March. He was an active worker for Harrison in the West Virginia campaign, and since his arrival in Washington has been in consultation with the republican politicians. He says General Harrison will be conservative and particular about whom he appoints to office in Georgia, and that there will be no squabble among the state republicans for the office.

Mr. Grimes arrived here from New York today. His eyes have been seriously affected and he has been in New York under treatment of a specialist.

Judge Stewart came in today. Major Barnes, Mr. Turner and Mr. Chandler are expected tomorrow.

It is understood here that Rev. Thad. Pickett has already mailed papers contesting the seat of Mr. Chandler. Colonel Tom. Canby, who arrived last night, says Pickett has engaged Lawyers Hulsey, Ectman and Darnell, to argue his case before the elections committee.

E. W. B.

WILL MEET TODAY.

Congress Will Listen to the President's Message this Morning.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—President Cleveland's annual message will be sent to both houses of congress tomorrow, immediately upon the receipt of rules in notification that they are ready to receive any communication he has to make. No delay is anticipated in the organization, as no deaths have occurred in the recess, and there are no new members to swear in. It is more than probable that the reading of message will consume the first legislative day, as it is understood to be of unusual length. The report of the secretary of the treasury will not be sent to congress until Tuesday. The programme of the week in the senate will depend upon the result of the meeting of the committee on finance, called for Tuesday morning. If it is then decided to take up the committee's revenue measure, the senate's substitute for the Mill's tariff bill pending at the close of last session, its consideration will preclude the possibility of any other bill coming to the front until it is disposed of. It is the expressed desire of Senators Morrill, Allison and Sherman to push the measure to a vote, so that it seems probable the bill will be taken up. If by any possibility the revenue bill should not be taken up, the probabilities of the course of legislation are rather vague. The bills most likely to receive prompt attention with the least opposition are those for the admission of North Dakota, Montana and Washington territory into the union.

The special order for Tuesday at 2 o'clock is the Union Pacific funding bill, regularly so called. By a strange coincidence the first special order of the second session of the forty-ninth congress was a bill on the same subject. There is a possibility that after the reading of the message in the house, there will be an effort made to secure the passage of the Nicaraguan canal or the Oklahoma bill under a suspension of the rules. The possibility, however, is very slight.

Tuesday and Wednesday will probably be devoted to the consideration of bills on the calendar in what is called "consideration morning hours," the privilege of calling up bills resting with the committee on Indian affairs and the pending measure being that for the settlement of claims of the Old Settler band of Indians.

Thursday is the day fixed by the democratic caucus resolution for the consideration of the direct tax bill, but it is still a matter of suspense whether or not the caucus programme will be adhered to. At the caucus held on the night of April 11th the memorable deadlock which had held the house in continuous session from April 24th was broken by the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That on reassembling tomorrow the house shall adjourn, with the understanding that the committee on rules will report a special order setting apart Thursday, December 6, 1888, immediately after the reading of a journal, for the consideration of Senate bill No. 123, to provide for the refunding of the direct tax levied in 1861, in which order reasonable time—not to exceed three days, viz: Thursday, Saturday and Tuesday—shall be allowed for debate and amendment, and the time for vote on its final passage shall be fixed at 4 o'clock on Tuesday.

There were 125 members present at the caucus and the resolution was adopted without a
